“Little Dog’s Rhapsody in the Night” Mary Oliver

He puts his cheek against mine
and makes small, expressive sounds.
And when I’m awake, or awake enough

he turns upside down, his four paws
in the air
and his eyes dark and fervent.

“Tell me you love me,” he says.
“Tell me again.”

Could there be a sweeter arrangement?
Over and over
He gets to ask.
I get to tell.

AS STILLWATER SETS SAIL...

adapted from Tennyson's ULYSSES

There lies the port; the vessel puffs her sail;
My mariners, Souls that have toiled, and wrought,
And thought with me. Age has yet its honor and its toil.
Something before the end, some work of noble note
May yet be done, Not unbecoming men that strove with Gods.
The lights begin to twinkle from the rocks; the long day
waned.
Come, my friends. It's not too late to seek a newer world.
Push off, and sitting well in order smite the sounding furrows;
For my purpose holds to sail beyond the sunset, and the baths
Of all the western stars, until I die.
It may be that the gulfs will wash us down;
It may be that we shall touch the Happy Isles,
And see the great Achilles, whom we knew.
Though much is taken, much abides; and though
We are not now that strength which in old days
Moved earth and heaven, that which we are, we are—
One equal temper of heroic hearts,
Made weak by time and fate, but strong in will
To strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield.

Sherry Morse

From her past, long before she was born, lies an interesting fact. She is a “shirt sleeve” relative to another Manor lady, a “shirt sleeve” relative also through their husbands’ families that arrived in America in the 1600’s. One is Janet Morse and the other is Sherry Morse, the newest addition to our community. It is interesting that Janet and Sherry share a family connection from four hundred years ago.

Some three hundred years later Sharon Baker Morse was born in Phoenix. Her grandparents lost everything in the Civil War, and their families scattered to New Mexico and Arizona. Sherry’s father was born in Phoenix in 1897. When married, the Bakers raised two girls and two boys; one of the girls was Sherry. (She still has a spec of a Southern accent; though Arizona is southern in other respects.) Her sister now lives in Connecticut, and one brother is in Seattle, the other in Concord.

Sherry got her BA in Psychology and Education at the University of Redlands and found her first job in San Carlos, teaching Kindergarten through 3rd grade which she did for five years. At the time she was living in Menlo Park, and she and her roommates decided to have a party and invite all the men they knew. (They hadn’t met many while teaching.) There was one who was the first to arrive at the party and the last to leave. His name was Howard Morse, and he was an Engineer at Stanford. Sherry was used to engineers as her father and brother were engineers. Rocket scientists are another thing, but this did not deter Sherry.

Howard, in the Air Force, having been in R.O.T.C., was getting his MA in Rocket Science. Sometime after they met and dated he was sent to Edwards Air Force Base. He was there for one year, having had many week-end commutes to the Bay Area, before they got married in December, 1964. Sherry taught at the Base in the second year of his assignment. They then returned to Stanford where Howard got his PhD. They lived on campus and Sherry went back to teaching in San Carlos. After his PhD Howard was assigned to work in Connecticut for an aerospace company that was part of his company in Mountain View, Acurex (a think tank, research, etc.). While in Connecticut Sherry gave birth to a daughter, Barbara, and upon their return after a year to Cupertino, Holly came along. Eight years later Sherry delivered Chad, who now lives in Canada while his sisters live in Gilroy.

Sherry and Howard lived in Saratoga for 24 years. Besides raising the children Sherry would sometimes substitute, teaching and testing for the school district. In 2000 they retired and moved to the 7th fairway at Pasadera. Their happy retirement didn’t last long as three years later Howard’s cancer took hold of him and he died in 2005.

The years following Sherry became a volunteer. She is a docent at the Aquarium, and this is where she met Ann Wilson who kept encouraging her to come to the Manor when she was ready. She was a volunteer at CHOMP where she met Lois Kettel who also encouraged her. She still works at the Aquarium on Wednesday mornings. She is a member of P.E.O., and her hobbies include reading books and traveling. She loves the Penny mysteries. She was in high school in Phoenix with Jeannette Walls, the author of The Glass House, so when Sherry read the book, she well remembered that family. August is the month Sherry visits her sister who owns a cabin in New Hampshire. Then this Fall she plans to take a trip to the Holy Land, Greece and Turkey with a friend, Sandy Storm, who also will be moving to the Manor soon. Sherry still lives in her house in Pasadera, but she is slowly moving into 5G. After her house goes on the market her son from Canada will come and help her complete her move here. (By the time this profile goes to Press, that might be imminent.) Once she is settled she hopes to join the Hikers, Day Trippers, and Tai Chi classes. While she waits, we welcome this very cheerful and smiling lady, Sherry Morse to the Manor!
